Girl, 5, creates a hit

Toronto girl's game idea goes viral on the Internet Sissy's Magical Ponycorn Adventure played more than 150,000 times by gamers around the world in just a week

Toronto's Cassie Creighton might be the toast of the online gaming world, but you would never know it at first blush.

After climbing from under a coffee table in her dad's Spadina Avenue office, she declares: "Almost everybody in the whole world likes my game."

Overstated? Perhaps.

But you can excuse her enthusiasm. She's just five years old.

Cassie is the inspiration, artist and voice behind Sissy's Magical Ponycorn Adventure, an online game created by her father that has gone viral on the Internet.

Ryan Creighton, 33, game creator and founder of Untold Entertainment, took Cassie to a two-day "game jam" a few weeks ago to challenge hundreds of other game makers in a time-limited effort to create a new game.

Inspired by Cassie's drawing of ponycorns and what a little girl named Sissy might have to do to capture five different coloured ones, they worked through the weekend to make the game a reality.

Cassie coloured for six hours, taped dialogue for a few more, and joined her younger sister, Izzy, 2, in making music for the background.

On his company's website, Creighton asks gamers to donate to Cassie's education fund. It's already garnered more than $2,000.

The game can be played free online.

Tier 4 trains won't hurt health: Metrolinx

TESS KALINOWSKI/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Clean Train advocates descend on the Metrolinx board meeting earlier this year.

Residents along the Georgetown GO line won't suffer ill health from diesel emissions when Metrolinx implements Tier 4 trains in 2015 even though significantly more trains will be running, according to Metrolinx.

The provincial agency, which operates GO Transit and is building an airport train shuttle from Union Station, has been ordered by the province to monitor and report on air quality along the line. Some residents fear a spike in respiratory problems due to emissions from expanded rail traffic.

When the corridor is completely built in about 30 years, however, harmful emissions could exceed the World Health Organization guidelines on "bad air" or smog days, says the Draft Human Health Mitigation Plan, released Thursday.

About 210 trains will run daily along the line when the air-rail link opens in 2015. But there could be as many as 451 daily runs in the next 30 years.

Nevertheless, cleaner train technology will mitigate against harmful pollutants, said Stephen Lipkus, executive director of the Georgetown South Corridor expansion project.

Councillor eyes 2nd NHL team

Recent U of T report concluded GTA could support two franchises

VINCE TALOTTA/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Coun. Josh Colle celebrates at home with his family, Mackenzie, 5, left, Cristian, 4, and wife Cassidy, after winning Ward 15 to replace Howard Moscoe last November. Colle's push to woo the NHL won the backing of council's economic development committee.

No offence to the Toronto Maple Leafs, but the city could use a second NHL franchise, according to Coun. Josh Colle.

Colle's push to woo the NHL won the backing of council's economic development committee Thursday in a 3-1 vote, with the committee chair opposed.

"I'm a Toronto Maple Leafs fan, diehard, blue and blue throughout," said the chairman, Coun. Michael Thompson.

"I don't see another team in the 416 I'm ever going to support. I'm not supportive of the Toronto Blades or the Toronto Purple Eagles."

Colle said he believes Toronto is the best hockey market, it is growing and the city needs to show its interest, as have NHL-bound Winnipeg and Quebec City, which is lobbying hard for a franchise.

"Why not send a message to not only the hockey world but to industry and prospective owners that we're a willing partner and a wiling host?"
COUN. JOSH COLLE

The committee said Mayor Rob Ford should write a letter to the league conveying a strong message that Toronto wants to be home to a second team. The recommendation goes to council June 14.

Colle suggested Woodbine might be a good location for an arena, being close to the airport and neighbouring 905 fans, but still in Toronto.

Councillor decries 'war on creativity'

Abandoned bike that was painted by OCAD student has since been slapped with a removal notice

Imagine if Toronto's orphaned bikes were adopted by artists and transformed from rusting metal shells into eye-popping sidewalk sculptures.

That's what Caroline Macfarlane envisioned last week when she reclaimed an old Raleigh that had been locked up and abandoned outside the Ontario College of Art and Design (OCAD) student gallery.

"It would be great to make it a city-wide art project," said Macfarlane.

But two days after Macfarlane, 25, finished sanding, priming and spray-painting the bike a glowing shade of neon orange — carefully taping the bike ring first to avoid damaging public property — the city slapped it with a removal notice. She was on her way to plant flowers in the bike's basket when she found it.

Transportation Services says it needs to keep the bike rings clear for use by other cyclists. But the area's councillor, Adam Vaughan, thinks it's a matter of clearing away something else.

"It's this war on creativity that's underway," said Vaughan, referring to Mayor Rob Ford's campaign against graffiti.

"These spontaneous pieces of art that spring up in the city, this is what makes Toronto a great place, what makes it a vibrant culture, an interesting urban environment," he said, adding that while he supports efforts to rid the city of spray-painted tags and illegal posters, "there needs to be some discretion." "The funny thing is that this bike has been sitting in the same place for years, unnoticed by the city. However, once it is brightened and made beautiful, it's got to go," the artist blogged.

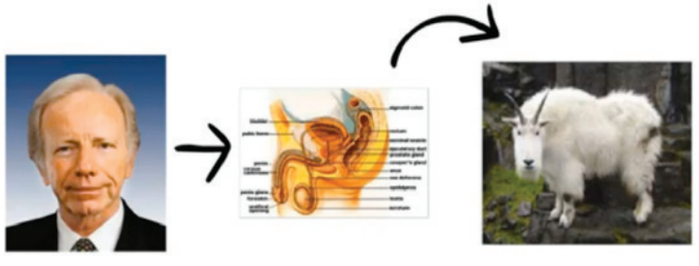
Whitby student reprimanded for offensive videos

When student Jack Christie started making animated videos for his Grade 12 class assignments, he says he wanted to get a laugh from his classmates.

But the Durham District School Board didn't find his so-called jokes — full of references to drug use, rape and a statement to "kill all black people" — at all humorous and has asked that he remove three of his videos from the Internet.

The controversial videos have sparked debate among students and educators over whether they are discriminatory or simply a product of free expression and appropriate school conduct.

"The short story is, that if a student produces or submits work that encourages the destruction of an entire racial group, we're going to report it," said board spokesperson Andrea Pidwerbecki. "We have moral and professional obligations."



▶ A screen grab from Jack Christie's homemade cartoon videos. Shown here is U.S. Senator Joe Lieberman, whom the video claims has sexual relations with goats.

"There was some discussion with him, and it all came to a point last week when he grabbed a microphone at an assembly and encouraged everyone to go see his videos," added Pidwerbecki.

Christie, 18, attends Donald A. Wilson Secondary The teen said he was sent home last Wednesday and was verbally advised not to return to school while the videos are being investigated. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Police released surveillance video and photos Thursday of two murder suspects sought in last week's shooting death of a Toronto man.

The suspects are shown talking with victim John Kang and a friend just before Kang was shot to death in a parking lot at Victoria Park and Finch Avenue East on the evening of May 26.

The surveillance photos and video were taken from a camera at a plaza near the parking lot.

In the video, the suspects are seen talking to Kang and the other man for a couple of minutes.

Shortly after, Kang was shot in the chest. He was taken to hospital where he died. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

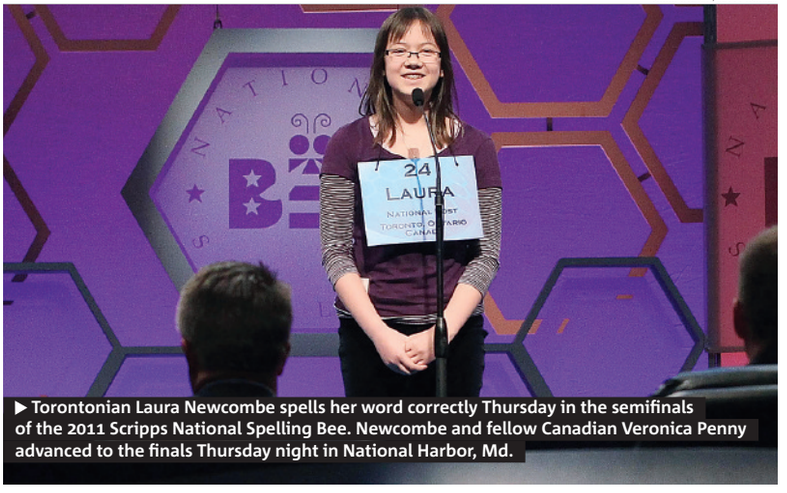
Two Ontarians advance to finals of top North American spelling bee Longtime rivals in standoff

MARK WILSON/GETTY IMAGES



▶ Torontonian Laura Newcombe spells her word correctly Thursday in the semifinals of the 2011 Scripps National Spelling Bee. Newcombe and fellow Canadian Veronica Penny advanced to the finals Thursday night in National Harbor, Md.

Of the 275 top spellers who gathered this week at the Scripps National Spelling Bee in Maryland, the final 13 included two Canadians: Laura Newcombe, from Toronto, and Veronica Penny, of Rockland, Ont.

To commentators, they were two "spellers to watch." In Canada, they are longtime rivals on the bee circuit.

During all of their past meetings, Newcombe has prevailed over Penny. In March, she won Canada's national bee; Penny was No. 2. Last year, the girls went head to head in a tense showdown in Toronto. When Newcombe won, Penny's mother filed an appeal based on the judge's pronunciation of "qigong." The judges dismissed the appeal, and for the first time, Penny was knocked out at the regional level. Penny's family has since moved to the Ottawa area, where she took the regional championships this year with "hubristic."

Both spellers have competed at the Scripps bee three times. The money at stake — $40,000 — is incredible when you consider that most preteens have only babysitting or paper routes as sources of income. With three straight regional and national wins, Newcombe has won $52,500 in Canadian prize money alone.

Busy bees

What did they spell?

- Laura Newcombe, 12
  Words spelled in semifinals:

  - chlorthalidone
  - choralcelo
- Veronica Penny, 13
  Words spelled in semifinals:

  - arbustum
  - dreikanter
  - grimthorpe

As the finals got underway Thursday night, commentators were abuzz over Newcombe's final appearance at the bee.

"This is her last chance. Will she get it done?" one asked, giving the bee all the tension of a sports movie with a plucky underdog.

Councillors rankled over office budgets

Facing revolt from councillors of all political stripes, Deputy Mayor Doug Holyday is willing to give only a little ground in his plan to rein in their office expenses.

He has agreed to minor concessions, for example, rewording a section to allow a councillor to order in pizza for late-working staff.

"But no pricey meals at fancy restaurants," says Holyday, who this week finished a second round of consultations — 25 councillors a month ago, then 20 in recent days, with some seeing him twice.

"There's a contingent of councillors that would like to have no rules," he said, because their office budgets were cut this year to $30,000 from $50,445. "But public opinion is still very strong behind fixing this."

Holyday predicts expense reports in July will show some councillors have blown almost all their office budget for the year.

Some councillors are working together on counterproposals. One said the main complaint is with Holyday "micromanaging" them through guidelines on how much can be spent in various categories.

Holyday singled out Adam Vaughan's website, with roughly $9,000 in startup costs and $5,000 in annual maintenance. Vaughan fired back, saying the detailed information it gives on property developments across his ward saves the city money.

"A single day at the Ontario Municipal Board costs the city $80,000," and appeals of city planning decisions to the provincial agency are less likely when parties can see how the decisions evolved, he said.

Frances Nunziata reveals life as a battered wife

Toronto city Coun. Frances Nunziata has hailed the latest police report on domestic violence, calling a drop in charges "wonderful" news for victims everywhere.

She also dramatically revealed her own ordeal as an abused wife.

"I'm talking from experience," Nunziata said.

Nunziata has never made her own domestic abuse case public and seems uncomfortable talking about it now.

She admits she was abused as a wife about 37 years ago and didn't know what to do about it.

"We didn't have options back then," she said in her office at city hall.

"There was nowhere to go and no one to talk to."

Her husband, she said, was an alcoholic and would physically and emotionally abuse her, although she was not hurt so badly that she required hospital treatment.

"There was a lot of violence," she said.

Nunziata said she endured the abuse for the five years of the marriage, before leaving with a newborn baby and starting a new life for herself.

"It took a lot of guts to leave him," she said.

It was difficult. She worked two jobs. By day, she worked for a stockbroker and at night she worked at a bingo hall.

Face of violence

The latest police report on domestic violence shows that for the first time in five years overall offences are falling.

- The only increase was in homicides after several years of declines. There were six domestic violence homicides in 2010, up from three in 2009 — but down from 2006 (11), 2007 (nine) and 2008 (seven).
- Overall charges from 2009 to 2010 have dropped for both men and women — 11 per cent on dual charges and 9.6 on charges against women.
- Calls to police are up 10.9 per cent — seen as positive because there is more awareness there is help out there.

Wait times alarm health watchdog

Average time to get nursing home bed in Ontario has tripled since 2005 Already an issue in provincial election

RON BULL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

22% of people in nursing home beds don't really need to be there because they are not in "high need" and could be more efficiently cared for elsewhere, said Dr. Ben Chan, president of Health Quality Ontario.

Hospitals are clogged with patients who don't belong, says a new report by Ontario's health watchdog agency.

Health Quality Ontario also found fewer than half of Ontarians who fall ill can get a quick appointment with their doctor, one-third of cancer patients don't get their urgent surgeries within the recommended two weeks, and waits in hospital emergency rooms are coming down but not quickly enough.

"Three and a half months is still far too high" for patients waiting for long-term care, said Dr. Ben Chan, president of the agency.

He called the long-standing problem a "major inefficiency" that clogs hospital beds because one in six hospital patients no longer needs acute care and is waiting for a nursing home bed.

The issue is sure to come up in the Oct. 6 election campaign as Tim Hudak's Progressive Conservatives promise to open 5,000 new long-term care beds.

Chan said some Local Health Integration Networks — regional agencies set up by the Liberal government to call the shots in local health-care priorities — have eased the waits with improved home care, supported housing and other programs to get long-term care patients out of hospitals.

"There have been a few ideas here and there but what we need is a more comprehensive approach," he said at Queen's Park, where Hudak has repeatedly promised to scrap the health networks as an unnecessary and expensive layer of bureaucracy.

New Democrat health critic France Gélinas agreed there has been a "patchwork of good ideas" in the government's aging-at-home strategy and that supporting seniors to live independently in their homes is a cheaper alternative to hospitals and nursing homes.

The report came as Premier Dalton McGuinty sent a letter to federal Finance Minister Jim Flaherty, reminding him that Ontario is looking for a new 10-year federal-provincial health funding agreement by the end of 2012 to preserve the future of medicare.

During the recent federal election campaign, McGuinty called on the next federal government to not only increase health funding, but also to be a partner with the provinces in finding cost-saving innovations to put fast-rising medicare costs on a more sound financial footing.

Hog farm rules protect lake

The Manitoba government is going to impose new rules on hog farms to protect water quality in Lake Winnipeg.

The province says it will ban any hog industry expansion that doesn't use advanced lagoons or other leading-edge manure treatment.

But the government is backing down from forcing the City of Winnipeg to cut nitrogen from its waste water.

Premier Greg Selinger says new scientific studies suggest phosphorus is the key problem, not nitrogen.

As a result, the province plans to require Winnipeg to upgrade its north-end sewage treatment plant to focus on phosphorus instead of nitrogen.

Winnipeg Mayor Sam Katz has long complained that the government's requirement to remove nitrogen from sewage was costly and unnecessary.

'Capt. Kirk' admits his fear of space travel

Even though more than a dozen Canadians have already signed up for commercial space flights, the country's most famous astronaut has no intention of joining them.

That's because the man who rose to fame playing Capt. James T. Kirk is, as it turns out, not crazy about the idea of visiting space.

William Shatner, the Star Trek protagonist, explained Thursday why he has no intention to boldly go anywhere beyond the Earth's atmosphere.

"I'm scared," the 80-year-old told a news conference after he was given an honorary doctorate of Letters at his alma mater, Montreal's McGill University.

Shatner publicly expressed reticence years ago when asked whether he might ever take advantage of new opportunities in space travel.

He went further Thursday, explaining why it won't happen.

Virgin Galactic, one of billionaire Richard Branson's many companies, has already booked more than 300 suborbital flights.

VALERIE MACON/GETTY IMAGES

William Shatner

"I'm interested in man's march into the unknown but to vomit in space is not my idea of a good time. Neither is a fiery crash with the vomit hovering over me."

WILLIAM SHATNER

The company hopes to complete its test phase and begin launching flights next year.

Its plan for suborbital flights mean its ships would go up into space, without completing an orbit of the Earth.

Fourteen of those signed up to fly are Canadians.

Shatner says Branson offered him a spot — which would have cost $200,000 US.

"I said, 'Well, that's not much, (but) how much do you guarantee to come back?' And he didn't have a price on that," Shatner quipped.

"He (Branson) wanted me to go up and pay for it and I said: 'Hey, you pay me and I'll go up. I'll risk my life for a large sum of money.' ... But he didn't pick me up on my offer."

It was widely reported in September 2006 that the Star Trek legend was offered a ticket by Branson aboard Virgin Galactic's first passenger flight — which was originally planned for 2008.

At the time, Shatner said he was worried about getting sick.

Rockets fired at warship

Commander of HMCS Charlottetown given the clearance to speak publicly about May 30 attack — as first reported Thursday by Metro

JENNIFER TAPLIN
@METRONEWS.CA

About a dozen rockets were fired at HMCS Charlottetown Monday off the coast of Libya.

In the early morning hours, crew members aboard the Halifax-based ship witnessed about a dozen BM-21 rockets fired in their direction.

None of the rockets connected with the Charlottetown and there were no casualties or damage to the ship.

In an interview with Metro Thursday afternoon, HMCS Charlottetown Cmdr. Craig Skjerpen said the rockets were rapid-fired from a truck on shore. The ship has been primarily stationed outside the Libyan port city of Misrata for the past several weeks.

He said the ship was out of range of the rockets at the time of the attack, but they came within about 900 metres of the Charlottetown.

"It's a very inaccurate weapon with a certain range. We were outside of that range, but they were able to get close," he said.

The ship was sailing away from shore at the time and Skjerpen said the Charlottetown continued on its course once the rockets hit the water.

The Charlottetown didn't fire back because the ship's weapons systems aren't tasked to find small targets on shore, he said.

PAKISTAN BLAMES NATO INACTION FOR

NATO, Pakistan staged co-ordinated operations in past Chill in ties since U.S. raid that killed bin Laden

Islamist militants who flowed out of Afghanistan fought a second day of fierce battles with Pakistani security forces Thursday in one of the deadliest clashes on the Pakistan side of the frontier in months. Authorities said 63 people were dead.

Signalling a deepening of the rift with the United States and voicing Islamabad's anger over the attacks, the government issued a statement late Thursday voicing Pakistan's "strong concern" about the attack.

Pakistan's military had initially said the assault was the work of about 200 militants, but the government statement put the number at between 300 and 400. It said the fighters "attacked villages and burned schools."

The militant attack and Pakistan's reaction contradicted the U.S. narrative about the poorly defined and porous border. Typically, militant cross-frontier movements originate in Pakistan, leaving the United States and NATO to gripe at Islamabad over its failure to stop the infiltration.

The new battles found Pakistan the aggrieved party, lending credence to Pakistani army commanders' complaints that NATO was failing to crack down on militants sheltering on the Afghan side of the rugged frontier.

The government statement said the foreign secretary had "stressed the need for stern action by the Afghan Army, U.S. and NATO/ISAF forces in the area against militants and their hideouts in Afghanistan and against organizational support for the militants."

The fight started when militants crossed into Pakistan Wednesday. By nightfall Thursday, 25 soldiers, 35 attackers and three civilians had died in fighting, according to regional police Chief Ghulam Mohammed.

Beyond emphasizing the difficulties of fighting an enemy that pays no attention to borders, the battle pointed to possible trouble for both the U.S. and Pakistan when Washington begins withdrawing troops later this year.

Pakistan is already complaining NATO doesn't have enough troops along the Afghan side of the border.

U.S. likens militants to al-Qaida

The U.S. homeland security chief has likened the Pakistan-based militant group Lashkar-e-Taiba to al-Qaida and says it could pose a threat to America.

Janet Napolitano was speaking Thursday following security co-operation talks last week with India.

India has accused Lashkar of mounting the 2008 terrorist attacks in Mumbai that killed 166 people with the help of arch rival Pakistan's main intelligence agency.

Napolitano described Lashkar as "al-Qaida-like in strength and organization."

She said Lashkar certainly threatened India and "could be construed as a threat to the United States." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kidnapper gets 431 years in jail

Victim wrote in statement that she hoped both of her captors would have as many sleepless nights as she had

A serial sex offender was ordered Thursday in Placerville, Calif., to spend the rest of his life in prison after the California woman he kidnapped, raped and held captive for 18 years said he and his wife-accomplice had stolen her life.

Victim Jaycee Dugard was 11 when she was abducted by Phillip and Nancy Garrido as her stepfather watched her walk toward a school bus. She gave birth to two daughters fathered by Garrido while he held her in a secret backyard compound.

The defendants, both dressed in orange jumpsuits, made no eye contact with anyone in the room and kept their heads down as Dugard's mother, Terry Probyn, read her daughter's statement at the ongoing hearing that Dugard did not attend.

"Everything you ever did to me was wrong and I hope one day you will see that."
JAYCEE DUGARD'S STATEMENT

"I chose not to be here today because I refuse to waste another second of my life in your presence," Dugard wrote in a portion of the statement directed to Phillip Garrido.

"I hated every second of every day for 18 years," she said in her first public statement since resurfacing. "You stole my life and that of my family."

A judge imposed the maximum possible sentence of 431 years to life on 60-year-old Phillip Garrido, calling his treatment of Dugard evil and reprehensible.

Nancy Garrido was sentenced to 36 years to life after pleading guilty to kidnapping and rape.

District attorney Vern Pierson said Dugard spent the first one-and-a-half years after her kidnapping locked in a backyard shed.

▶ Angry farmers dump produce outside the German consulate Thursday in Valencia, Spain, in reaction to German officials' claims that Spanish cucumbers are to blame for the E. coli outbreak. Spain says it is not ruling out legal action.

New bug behind outbreak

Some scientists believe deadly E. coli originates from contaminated manure Adult women especially at risk

A super-toxic microbe is causing the food-poisoning outbreak in Europe that has sickened at least 1,600 people and killed 18, researchers said Thursday.

The new E. coli strain, which is believed to have contaminated salad vegetables, was analyzed by Chinese and German scientists.

Preliminary genetic sequencing suggests the strain is a combination of two E. coli bacteria with aggressive genes that cause antibiotic resistance, which could explain why the outbreak appears to be so massive and dangerous, officials at the World Health Organization said.

"This is a unique strain that has never been isolated from patients before," said Hilde Kruse, a food-safety expert at the WHO.

Researchers have so far been unable to pinpoint the food source of the illness, which has spread to at least 10 European countries and fanned uncertainty about eating tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce. The bug has caused kidney failure in 499 people. Germany is hardest hit.

Drug lord starts polo fashion fad

Mexico drug cartel operator 'La Barbie' wore a Ralph Lauren tee during arrest Youths want to imitate capos

METRO WORLD NEWS

▶ A vendor in Mexico City says polo shirts like these, which resemble a drug operator's outfit at the time of capture, are frequently purchased by "youngsters who ride motorcycles."

Ralph Lauren polo shirts have become the unofficial attire of Mexico's notorious drug barons, with sales of the clothes rocketing among disenchanted youth.

The sartorial trend emerged in August 2010 with the capture of the suspected operator of the Beltran Leyva cartel, Edgar Valdez Villarreal (a.k.a. La Barbie) who was brought before the press wearing one of the shirts in green.

Jose Jorge Balderas Garza, known as El JJ and charged with shooting Paraguayan footballer Salvador Cabañas in a nightclub, was detained four months later wearing the same model in blue.

Originals sell for about $150, but pirated versions are doing a roaring trade on the streets at one-tenth of that price.

"Jorge," a street vendor at the foot of Mexico City's famous World Trade Center building complex, tells Metro he plans to sell the shirts in sizes for women and kids, "exactly like those of La Barbie, but imitation."

LCBO sales rise 5.6%

Province receives $1.55 billion — 9.9% more than previous year

Rosé wines are once again hot sellers, the Liquor Control Board of Ontario says.

As the economy improved, the LCBO also saw higher demand for premium wines and spirits and Ontario craft beer last year, the crown agency said Thursday.

Sales through Ontario liquor stores rose by 5.6 per cent to $4.55 billion, the agency said. It was the 16th straight year of record sales. The LCBO's profit rose 8.8 per cent to $1.56 billion, not including taxes or licensing fees.

The LCBO said Ontario VQA wines rose almost 15 per cent while local craft beers were up almost 53 per cent, continuing a trend seen in recent years.

Rosé wines were up 14.7 per cent as baby boomers discover a category once dominated by sweet, fizzy stuff is now home to dry, high quality vintages

Sony bringing back PlayStation service

Sony Corp. is fully restoring its PlayStation Network in the U.S., Europe and parts of Asia Thursday after hackers stole customer data and sent services offline in April.

The Tokyo-based company said services were set to resume in the U.S., Europe and Asia, excluding Japan, Hong Kong and South Korea.

Customers will be able to download music again on their PlayStation3 consoles and PCs through Sony's Qriocity music service.

Sony shut down the network after a massive security breach that affected more than 100 million online accounts and embarrassed the tech giant.

Sony said last week that credit card companies have not reported any rise in fraudulent credit card transactions as a result of the attack.

The network serves both the PlayStation video game machines and Sony's Qriocity movie and music services. The system links gamers worldwide in live play, and also allows users to upgrade and download games and other content.

Sony is hoping to entice customers with a "Welcome Back" package of free game downloads and premium services.

The company began partially restoring the PlayStation Network in the U.S. and Europe May 15.

Beijing says not behind attacks on Gmail

China denied it supports hacking activities and said Thursday it is part of global efforts to combat computer security threats, a day after Google disclosed some of its email users suffered hacking attacks that originated within China.

Google disclosed Wednesday that personal Gmail accounts of several hundred people, including senior U.S. government officials, military personnel and political activists, had been breached.

Google traced the origin of the attacks to Jinan, China, the home city of a military vocational school whose computers were linked to an assault 17 months ago on Google's systems.

Google said all of the hacking victims have been notified and their accounts have been secured.

The latest attacks, which used "phishing" tactics, aren't believed to be tied to the more sophisticated assault last year. That intrusion targeted Google's own security systems and triggered a high-profile battle with China's Communist government over online censorship.

DIVERSITY ON ICE IS THE CANUCK WAY

THE METRO LIST

PAUL SULLIVAN
METRO

This week, a nation gets its game back.

1 Hockey Night in CANADA: After years of putting up with Stanley Cup finals in Carolina (home of hockey ...) or Philadelphia, this year, Vancouver is the home team. The last time a Canadian team played in the Stanley Cup was 2007, but the last Canadian team to win it all was Montreal in 1993. Of course, Vancouver's three stars are two Swedes and an American, but who cares?! It's the Canadian way: Diversity in end-to-end action!

2 Speaking of hockey, how about Winnipeg? First, it gets its own edition of Metro and now it's back in the NHL, baby. Talk about a winning streak. The Heart of the Continent does indeed have a pulse, and it's beating stronger than ever. Bring back the Golden Jet to drop the first puck on a new era at the MTS Centre! Randy Carlyle, at least.

"Of course, Vancouver's three stars are two Swedes and an American, but who cares?!"

3 The Children's Crusade: And speaking of hearts, yours would have to be made of stone not to melt at the sight of cute little kids around the Middle East marching to remember Hamza al-Khatib, the 13-year-old Syrian boy who was tortured to death by his own government. Memo to Syrian President Bashar Assad: When your own kids start marching in the street, you know you're done, dude.

4 Kim Kardashian gets engaged: From the sublime.... This is a big deal because a nobody who does nothing has managed to turn her upcoming nuptials into front-page news around the world. Rumour has it she supplied her own engagement ring because boyfriend Kris Humphries couldn't afford all that bling on his NBA salary. LOL!

5 Cellphones could cause cancer: According to the World Health Organization, cellphones could cause brain cancer. C, I told U! IMHO, how else can you explain our mysterious loss of the capacity to spell entire words? The story was followed by an immediate denial from cellphone companies around the world. Who U gonna believe: The WHO … or the cellphone industry?

Honourable mentions:

6 Shaquille O'Neal retires from the NBA: No more Shaq attacks.

7 Brooke Shields turned 46 this week. Yikes, anybody remember Pretty Baby?

8 Killer tornado strikes … Massachusetts? Global warning.

9 Man attacks raccoon in Toronto: Man wins battle, but raccoon wins the war for public sympathy.

Dishonourable mention:

10 Bieber alert: Justin and Selena go on a date to the Cheesecake Factory. Justin had cherry cheesecake, his favourite. You were expecting ... what? Fine dining?

Letters

Re: Channelling his inner caveman (Metro, June 1)

TORONTO. I'm disappointed in Metro's choice of column. Paul Sullivan is a hypocrite for criticizing Mark Zuckerberg for killing animals for his dinner while Sullivan eats meat!

I admire Zuckerberg for taking this step and not shying away from the reality of how meat ends up on our plates — the animal has to be killed first.

Sullivan is coddling and reassuring himself and meat eaters that it's OK to not think about the fact that the piece of meat they eat during meals was actually once a live animal.

Sullivan also criticizes Zuckerberg for not killing animals that he catches himself, but rather those who are caged/farmed.

Really? What have you done to put that animal on your plate? You buy already slaughtered, nicely cut up and packaged meat at the grocery store.

Then he makes a snide comment at the end of the article. Sullivan is hypocritical.

Not the same effect as a blackboard

A Malaysian social activist will apologize 100 times on Twitter in an unusual settlement with a magazine publisher in a defamation case, his lawyer said Thursday.

The penalty has sparked debate among Internet users about the pitfalls of social media in Malaysia, where authorities have warned people to be more cautious about what they write on blogs, Facebook and Twitter.

Fahmi Fadzil, an opposition politician's aide and respected commentator on social issues, claimed on Twitter in January that his pregnant friend had been poorly treated by her employers at a magazine run by BluInc Media.

Fahmi wrote an apology to BluInc on Twitter a few hours after making that allegation, but the company's lawyers later sent him a letter demanding unspecified financial damages for defamation and another apology in major newspapers, said Fahmi's lawyer, Syahredzan Johan.

Syahredzan said Fahmi settled the case this week by agreeing to apologize 100 times over three days on Twitter, where he has more than 4,200 followers. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MONEY TALKS

FINANCIAL ADVICE FOR NEW CANADIANS

Q I was a nurse back home in the Philippines. Before I can restart my career here in Canada, and that means taking some courses. I'll need financial help to do this. What are my options?

A Education's expensive, whether you're a first-time student, going back to school to start a new career, or simply upgrading your skills. That's the bad news. Here's the good news: You have a lot of options.

Step one is determining what educational opportunities are out there, and which ones you qualify for. It's relatively easy for new Canadians to get this information. In Quebec, for example, the provincially endorsed telephone helpline, Info Apprendre, provides free and confidential advice to anyone wishing to complete their studies, from basic education to completion of a college or university diploma. It also advises on matters of literacy. British Columbia's WelcomeBC.ca and Ontario's Settlement.org are also good places to start.

ISTOCKPHOTO/THINKSTOCK

Once you've found a place to train and have completed your studies, you'll have to transfer your new skills to the workforce. Settlement.org offers advice on applying for jobs, resumé and cover letter writing, interviewing and much more, in 30+ languages. You can also take advantage of organizations dedicated to placing new Canadians in the right jobs, like the Immigrant Employment Council of BC, which engages potential employers directly. Its website includes a directory of B.C.-based training centres and professional associations.

Of course, before choosing any new field of study, it's important to know your sources of funding. You should also look into a government loan, even if you're planning to study part-time. Federal and provincial governments offer these loans, and will pay the interest directly while you're still in school. A government loan program includes debt-management programs to assist you, should difficulties arise. Your college or university should have a financial aid office as well. Some examples of these programs are StudentAid BC; the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP); or Quebec's Aide Financière aux Études (AFE). However, this financial assistance is dependent on your citizenship and residency status, and not all schools and courses qualify. Scholarships are another option, often overlooked by new Canadians. Try searching for scholarships by name, school, field of study, or scholarship provider, at Scholarships-Canada.com.

"Many students also consider opening a student line of credit, to assist with the cost of tuition, books, living or education-related expenses," says Tom Lumsden Director Education Financing for RBC. "These programs are different than a regular loan. A regular loan requires you to borrow a lump sum of cash upfront and make payments of interest and principal on the entire loan. The credit line lets you borrow funds as you need them, and then you only pay interest on the amount you use without having to re-apply. In addition, while you are in school, you only need to pay the monthly interest in most cases.

You've got some big decisions ahead of you. For more information, consult the federal government's Citizenship and Immigration Canada website, cic.gc.ca, and speak to your banker.

Plot synopsis

- From concentration camps in Poland to a mansion in Westchester, N.Y., X-Men: First Class details the evolution of the mutant band of X-Men (and Women). We learn how the two most powerful mutants, Eric Lehnsherr/Magneto (Michael Fassbender) and Professor Charles Xavier (James McAvoy) get along long enough to put together a team of mutants, but soon find themselves on opposite sides in a game of free-to-be-you-and-me.

A First Class triumph

Story, dialogue and great acting lifts movie above standard superhero fare

Richard Crouse: Mark, X-Men: The Younguns has its share of things that go boom but it doesn't follow the summer blockbuster format. There aren't action sequences every 10 minutes, the characters actually talk to one another and there's even subtitles! What a relief. After the heavy metal bombast of Thor and the like, X-Men is more like a Radiohead disc — brainy but still fun. What's your take?

Mark Breslin: I've always thought the X-Men franchise was the brainiest of the comic book movies. But this one exceeds all expectations. Setting it in 1962 and weaving real-world events — like the Cuban Missile Crisis — into the plot was a stroke of brilliance. Although … the setting may be '62 but the hemlines are definitely '67!

RC: The setting may be '62 and the hemlines '67, but the themes are definitely 2011. One quote in particular, "Security is more important than liberty," sounds scarily up-to-date. Add to that some groovy space age design, and Kevin Bacon as best bad guy of the summer so far, and you have a great example of how big blockbuster entertainment can entertain the eye (thank you January Jones and Jennifer Lawrence) and the mind.

MB: January Jones looks great in Barbarella drag, but I still maintain she can't act. But the rest of the cast sure can. James McAvoy brings great humanity — and a great collection of tweed jackets — to his role as a young Professor X. Michael Fassbender seethes as the Holocaust-haunted Magneto. But a clever cameo by a major star beats them all with one succinct and unprintable line. The rest of the film is talky, but it's mostly good dialogue, except for the constant reminders that "we're all outsiders, blah-blah-blah."

RC: It is a bit talkier than you might expect from a big budget comic book movie, but at least they're saying something. It isn't just chatter. I think the reason this movie works so well is that it has the best of both worlds: good blow-'em-up, great villains, cool characters and a script that respects all of the above. If they wanted to make it less chatty, I suppose they could cut some of January Jones's lines. One thing is for sure, acting is not her super power.

MB: I also liked some of the director's '60s touches, like the split screen effects that I haven't seen since The Thomas Crowne Affair — the first one.

Super 8 star still a kid at heart

15-year-old Ryan Lee stars in the new J.J. Abrams thriller Actor knows the importance of keeping secrets

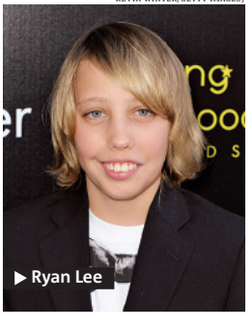
RICHARD CROUSE
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

KEVIN WINTER/GETTY IMAGES)



▶ Ryan Lee

Who says kid actors can't have normal childhoods? During a phone interview with Ryan Lee, the 15-year-old Super 8 star, he briefly interrupts our chat to act like a youngster. "I just saw a stray dog and I'm trying to catch him right now. What was your question again?"

I had just asked the Austin, Texas native about working with director J.J. Abrams, the megamind behind TV and movie hits like Lost and Star Trek.

"He's just one of those guys who can really make you feel comfortable during a scene," said Ryan. "He's really good at what he does. He's really hands on, down to earth and just an amazing director all round."

Like all of Abrams's projects, the plot of Super 8 has been kept under wraps. Ryan plays one of six kids who witness a mysterious train wreck. "Then everything starts to go crazy," he says, picking up the story. "Once we get away things start to go weird in the town; like people going missing, dogs going missing, home appliances going missing. Nothing can really be explained!"

Other than that he's been sworn to secrecy. "Once I got the call back I had to sign confidentiality papers," he says. "I had to bring them home to my family and they had to sign them too. It was really secretive."

So secretive he didn't know what he was auditioning for when he first went out for the part.

"My agent sent me on the audition and I had no idea it was for J.J. or for Super 8," he says. "The audition was about a girl and a boy fighting about math homework. It had nothing to do with Super 8. Then at the first audition with him this girl next to me said, 'J.J.'s waiting." I said, 'J.J. who?' Her mouth dropped. I had no idea he was going to be working on this."

Working with Abrams, he says, was a breeze. "He never yells and with a group of six kids …" Ryan said. "Not yelling? How do you even do that?"

There's a great buzz around Super 8 right now, even Ryan feels it — "I want to see the movie so bad, just like everybody else," he says — but right now in the days before the movie opens it's back to being a kid and catching that dog.

"I'm trying," he says. "He's fast."

Greenwood taps into his dark side

Canadian actor says he wasn't ready for how scary it would be filming Cell 213 Movie was filmed at a closed down prison in Guelph, Ontario

TREVOR PARKER
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

The new supernatural thriller Cell 213 oozes with creepy atmosphere. Filmed on location at the now-decommissioned Guelph Correctional Centre, it's the story of a hotshot defence attorney (Eric Balfour) locked down in a decaying penitentiary and plagued by nightmarish visions.

The movie also marks the return of Boogeyman director Stephen Kay to the horror genre after a six-year absence. Metro got the chance to chat with three of the film's co-stars about their stretch behind bars: venerable Canadian Bruce Greenwood (The Sweet Hereafter), newcomer Deborah Valente, and Michael Rooker (Henry: Portrait of a Serial Killer).

"I play the warden of a prison that is singularly peculiar in that one of the cells, number 213, is essentially a holding cell between heaven and hell," Greenwood says about his role.

Rooker portrays the warden's thuggish sidekick, a guard who "does whatever my boss tells me to do," Rooker says with an ominous smile. "I control the guy inside 213, making sure he does what he's told."

Valente plays "a government official working on a case regarding excessive force and suicides taking place at the prison."

With Rooker already having made his bones in horror over the years, Greenwood and Valente were excited for their own chance to chill viewers' blood.

"I'm not that familiar with the genre," says Greenwood. "I haven't been in that many movies dealing with the horrific. I wasn't aware how spooky and weird the finished project was going to feel, even though we were shooting in this wet, dark, hideous, enclosed, oppressive prison. While as an actor you absorb that to some degree, I wasn't ready for how scary this film ended up being."

It takes you on a roller coaster, and that's the fun about making a movie like this, letting the audience go with you on the ride," says Valente.

"A roller coaster where the ceilings are low," Rooker adds. "Just remember to duck."

Taking a look at Malick's genius

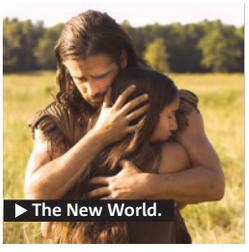
ADAM NAYMAN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA



▶ The New World.

The title of TIFF Bell Lightbox's new retrospective on the reclusive American director Terrence Malick is called New Worlds, a play on his 2005 feature of the same name that depicted the story of John Smith and Pocahontas. But the title is suggestive in another way. Like no filmmaker since Stanley Kubrick, the 78-year old Texas native has created movies that feel as if they're unfolding in alternate realms — enchanted mirrors of our own.

Part of what makes Malick's films feel so special is their rarity. Since his 1973 debut Badlands, about a young couple on a cross-country crime spree, the director has made only four features: the Depression-era love triangle Days of Heaven (1978), the World War II saga The Thin Red Line (1999), The New World and The Tree of Life, a metaphysical coming-of-age tale that won the Palme D'Or last month at the Cannes Film Festival and opens in Canada on June 17.

Tracing the similarities between these films isn't difficult: all are concerned in some way about the division between the natural world and human interaction, and all feature exquisite images of landscapes — which some critics have carped is to the detriment of the narratives. Malick's long-standing refusal to do interviews has amplified that which is already mysterious in his cinema.

His work isn't conventional, but its pictorial beauty and unmistakably poetic sensibility put him apart even from the other great directors who began their careers in the early 1970s. Where Spielberg, Scorsese and Coppola all eventually went Hollywood, Malick has remained a wary outsider; his small but overwhelming output has been produced entirely on his own terms.

Cap'n Video: The original Jackass

New documentary looks at the wild antics of Canadian Ralph Zavadil's crazy public access show Cap'n Video

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Long before Tom Green humped a dead moose or the Jackass guys got paid for their slapstick self-destruction, there was Ralph Zavadil and his public access creation Cap'n Video. From 1990 to 1995 Zavadil essentially created home-video stunt comedy for local Southern Ontario audiences by snorting raw eggs, shaving with lighter fluid, and most famously breaking his neck while trying to jump into an unprepared pool.

Zavadil may never have achieved the fame or notoriety of those that followed in his wake, but speaking to him today before the release of a documentary about his life entitled Beauty Day, the former professional idiot doesn't seem to mind.

"There are still things I've done that have never been seen like Pizzaface Pizza, where I took a frozen pizza and cooked it underneath the hood of my car on the way to delivering it to a person's house."
RALPH ZAVADIL

"As far as I'm concerned that's a touchdown for them," said the Cap'n. "If they can make money being nut bars, all the power in the world to them."

▶ Ralph Zavadil, a.k.a. Cap'n Video, is the subject of the documentary Beauty Day.

Beauty Day was created by emerging documentary filmmaker Jay Cheel as a hilarious love letter to Zavadil's career and carefree lifestyle. Cheel grew up on The Cap'n Video Show and initially planned to create a doc about the underappreciated program's legacy, but quickly realized that Zavaldil could offer more.

"The film is more about friendship, nostalgia and the creative process," explained Cheel. "You know, Ralph surrounding himself with like-minded people and how he affects them. A lot of underdog sports dramas fit into structure as well. I look at the film as a comedy with some dramatic elements."

The documentary is an inspirational portrait of a man who lives by his own rules and created a place for himself on the fringes of society. Even though it drips with nostalgia, Zavadil promises that he isn't done yet.

"Dude, the Cap'n lives until I'm dead," he claimed. "There are still things I've done that have never been seen like Pizzaface Pizza, where I took a frozen pizza and cooked it underneath the hood of my car and on the way to delivering it to a person's house."

Admittedly, the world does feel incomplete without that sketch available.

Midnight In Paris
Genre: Comedy
Director: Woody Allen
Stars: Owen Wilson, Rachel McAdams, Michael Sheen
●●●○○
Midnight In Paris is, remarkably, Woody Allen's 42nd feature as a director. It's more of a pleasant diversion than a masterstroke, a simple yarn about a screenwriter vacationing with his fiancée in Paris, who escapes his pretentious friend for a midnight stroll where he finds a taxi that transports him to the 1920s for parties with Hemingway, Dali, the Fitzgeralds and others. The writer finds solace in the dreams of an older age and the film feels like a feature length expansion of the famous Marshall McLuhan joke in Annie Hall. Though nowhere near as good as his classic titles, strong casting and clever writing make it an enjoyable romp for Woody fans. PHIL BROWN

Good Neighbours
Genre: Thriller
Director: Jacob Tierney
Stars: Jay Baruchel, Scott Speedman, Emily Hampshire
●●●½
A thriller about friendship, serial killers and lies set against the backdrop of the 1995 referendum on the separation of Quebec, Good Neighbours has a Twin Peaks feel. That is, if that show had been directed by Dario Argento. The lives of three neighbours in a Notre-Dame-de-Grace neighbourhood walk-up become entwined, leading to murder — dead cats and tenants — suspicion and double and triple crosses. The undeniable sweetness director Jacob Tierney brought to his last film The Trotsky is out the window, replaced by a delicious sense of mischief and mayhem. Also showing their dark sides are stars Jay Baruchel, Scott Speedman and Emily Hampshire.
RICHARD CROUSE

The Princess Of Montpensier
Genre: Historical Drama
Director: Bertrand Tavernier
Stars: Melanie Thierry, Lambert Wilson
●●●½
Master French director Bertrand Tavernier turns his attention to a 16th century historical drama for a film with all the essentials of the genre: sex, love, violence, intrigue, deceit, and plenty of expensive costumes. It's a long movie weaving together a bloody religious war between Catholics and Protestant Huguenots with the tale of a beautiful, intelligent, and passionate princess and the men who become justifiably intoxicated by her enlightened mind and bosomy beauty. Cue plenty of dirty physical battles and romantic pining in gorgeous locations.
PHIL BROWN

Le Quattro Volte (The Four Times)
Genre: Drama
Director: Michelangelo Frammartino
Stars: Giuseppe Fuda, Bruno Timpano, Nazareno Timpano
●●●½
Defying categorization and landing somewhere between documentary and fiction, Le Quattro Volte is a truly original film. The film is practically silent, there's no real plot, and the closest thing it has to protagonists are an old man, a dog, a goat, and a pile of charcoal. Director Michelangelo Frammartino abandons conventional forms of storytelling to simply observe snippets of life over the course of a year in rural Italy. It can be tedious at times and certainly isn't for everyone, but as a portrait of life both beautiful and mundane, the film does hold a strange power over viewers.

ARTHRITIS

Pain free in 2 weeks!

#1

This is what happened to me personally. After suffering for years I desperately tried everything, drugs, natural products,physiotherapy, acupuncture, magnets and nothing was of any real help. Finally I had relief in 2 weeks by taking shark cartilage that was specially processed to preserve the natural active ingredients. This is the kind we are now promoting. I realized then that there are over 50 million men and women that are battling the same illness and getting treatments that are not working well, otherwise we would not have this ongoing huge health problem. In the last 10 years we have helped tens of thousands of men and women to have less pain or no pain at all. This is a by-product of the food industry. No sharks are caught because of their bones/cartilage. Nick A. Jerch, President

We have real EVIDENCE that it works. On our web site you find over 100's of testimonials with full names and towns. All 100% true. Skeptics may call them. Here are some examples: ■ Doctor suggested knee replacement after all his options failed with drugs and cortisone shots in knee and lower back. I recommend Bell Shark Cartilage to those millions suffering needlessly like I did for 40 years with arthritis in my knees. It's a shame that I was given drugs and injections all these years when a natural medicine could have spared me the endless torture day and night. Pat Laughlin, Coldwater, ON ■ My hip is 95% pain free. Pain killing drugs mask and Bell Shark Cartilage heals. Rebecca Hite, Oroville, CA ■ I tried another brand and pain came back. 2 weeks on Bell and pain is gone again. Gert Dupuis, Hanmer, ON ■ Cancelled knee replacement. I was in pain and limping. Have no more pain now. Can square dance for hours. Anton Melnychuk, Porcupine Plain, SK. ■ For 32 years I cried barrels of tears. Was in and out of hospitals costing society tens of thousands of dollars. I have taken many thousands of pills that nearly killed me. Finally 3 bottles of Bell Shark Cartilage costing less than $100 stopped a lifetime of suffering without side effects. Eleanor Sauson, Shigawake, QC ■ Others write: Can walk again for hours…Climb stairs without hanging on to railing…First time in 15 years can sleep at night…Rheumatoid pain in joints down 90%, same for my sister.

Lautner's dad causing trouble

FATHER-SON. While Taylor Lautner is trying to transition from Twilight heartthrob to action star with his upcoming film choices, he won't be doing it with publicity firm Slate PR by his side, as the company reportedly dropped Lautner as a client after just three months, according to the Hollywood Reporter.

The reason for the split? Lautner's father and producing partner, Daniel Lautner, "isn't the easiest guy to work with" and proved to be too involved in the young actor's career choices.

Reported 'tension' brewing between Aniston, Cox

ALBERTO E. RODRIGUEZ/GETTY IMAGES

Former Friends co-stars Jennifer Aniston and Courteney Cox may be on their way to being former friends in real life, according to Popeater.

Sources say the actresses no longer hang out as frequently as they used to and haven't been photographed together in nearly a year.

Plus, one source adds, there is "tension" between the two over Cox's behaviour since her separation from David Arquette and rumoured fling with Cougar Town co-star Brian Van Holt.

"Jen thinks Courteney is acting callous by running around with this guy but refusing to file divorce papers. Like she's playing mind games with David," the source says. Aniston's rep, however, tells E! Online the story is "a complete fabrication."

Justin 'hooking up' with Olson twin, says source

Justin Timberlake has been a busy man since he broke up with Jessica Biel, dodging romance rumours about him and Olivia Wilde and Friends with Benefits co-star Mila Kunis.

Now Timberlake is said to be spending quality time with Ashley Olsen, according to Hollyscoop.

"They are hooking up," a source says of the pair, who have been spotted together at various venues recently. METRO

Kravitz wears the pants in this one

X-Men: First Class co-stars Michael Fassbender and Zoe Kravitz have been turning heads in New York lately as the pair reportedly can't keep their hands off each other, according to Us Weekly.

In fact, sources say, the two actors reportedly began dating during production on their film last year but have been keeping the romance under wraps.

"They're really low-key, but they have a great time together just talking music or movies. "They really didn't want to be a topic of conversation during the press for X-Men," a source says, adding that Kravitz tends to wear the pants in the relationship. METRO

Edible bowls

Edible bowls are a terrific way to show off ice cream. They are also a great way to kick an ice-cream sundae bar up to the next level.

Because these bowls are made from a sweet, crisp shell, you could use them for other desserts as well.

No ice-cream maker? No problem

This simple malted ice cream takes just 15 minutes to make

This ice cream is made without the need for an ice-cream maker.

So if you haven't bought one — or don't have the space for one — this luscious and super-rich frozen treat is the perfect thing for you.

We opted for an old-fashioned malt flavour, but you can leave that out if you'd prefer plain vanilla.

If you want to make chocolate, simply whisk 75 ml (1/3 cup) cocoa powder into the cream.

You also can freeze the mixture in individual dishes if you like.

Easy Malted Ice Cream

Ingredients:

- 300 ml (1 1/4 cups) sugar, divided
- 9 egg yolks
- 1 l (4 cups) heavy cream
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) malted milk powder
- Pinch of salt
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) vanilla extract

Preparation:

1. In a large bowl, whisk half of the sugar with egg yolks. Set aside.
2. In a large saucepan over medium heat, combine cream, malted milk powder, salt and remaining sugar. Bring to a simmer.
3. Once cream mixture is hot, while whisking eggs pour cream slowly into bowl of eggs. Stir in vanilla.
4. Refrigerate mixture until completely chilled, about 4 hours.
5. When mixture is completely chilled, beat with an electric mixer until thick, 8 to 10 minutes. Transfer to a freezer-safe, airtight container and freeze until firm, at least 4 hours. Enjoy within 3 days.

Wow with your wedding wine

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

While planning a wedding is no piece of cake, I admit that I only had two responsibilities during the organization of my nuptials: Select the wine for the reception and stay out of the way.

With dozens of thirsts to quench, what you really want is the biggest bottle filled with the tastiest juice for the least money. When it comes to size, the selection of wines in 1.5-litre bottles is varied with the majority of vintage versions offering good value for the price.

Concha y Toro's Frontera line from Chile is one of the most consistent, with the white 2010 Sauvignon Blanc ($13.95 - $20.49) offering fresh, lean, citrusy fruit flavours and the red 2010 Cabernet Sauvignon Merlot ($14.95 - $20.49) serving up ripe, wild berry fruit and balanced acidity.

In the end, though, realize that most guests will only have one glass during dinner. The majority will be watching the clock waiting for the cash bar to open and won't remember much about the wine the day after. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. ### A sweet treat just for the big kids ◐ A fresh, cocktail-inspired Mango Colada Ice Cream

▶ This recipe only takes 20 minutes from start to finish.

Based on the famous cocktail, this ice cream will take you straight to the tropical islands.

If you can't find very ripe mango, use the same amount of frozen mango, but thaw it before using it in the recipe.

Because this ice cream has alcohol in it, it will melt faster at room temperature, so be sure to serve it right after scooping it into bowls and topping with whipped cream.

For a non-alcoholic version, just leave out the rum.

Preparation:

1. In a blender, puree mango and sugar until completely smooth.
2. In a medium bowl, whisk together mango puree, coconut cream, heavy cream and rum.
3. Process with an ice-cream maker according to the manufacturer's directions.
4. After ice cream is churned and soft frozen, transfer to a container with a tight-fitting lid and freeze until completely hardened, 1 to 2 hours.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients:

- 250 ml (1 cup) very ripe mango, cubed
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) sugar
- 1 can (426 ml/15 oz) sweetened coconut cream
- 250 ml (1 cup) heavy cream
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) rum

Li through to French Open final

CHRISTOPHE ENA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Li Na

Li Na is back in a Grand Slam final, reaching her second straight major championship match by defeating Maria Sharapova 6-4, 7-5 Thursday in the French Open semifinals.

The Australian Open runner-up, who became the first Chinese player to reach a Grand Slam final, was able to chase down nearly everything Sharapova had to offer on Court Philippe Chatrier.

"I'm sure they showed the match ... in China, so ... maybe children, they saw the match, and they think that maybe one day they can do the same — or even better," said Li, who is the first Chinese player to reach the French Open final.

In Saturday's final, Li will face defending champion Francesca Schiavone. The fifth-seeded Schiavone, who last year became the first Italian woman to win a Grand Slam singles title, defeated No. 11 Marion Bartoli of France 6-3, 6-3.

NHL's burden of tooth: Burrows cleared of biting

Review of Game 1 incident can't prove Canuck chomped Bergeron's finger on purpose

Vancouver Canucks forward Alex Burrows will not be suspended for allegedly biting the finger of Patrice Bergeron of the Boston Bruins during Game 1 of the Stanley Cup final.

"After reviewing the incident, including speaking with the on-ice officials, I can find no conclusive evidence that Alex Burrows intentionally bit the finger of Patrice Bergeron," the NHL's senior vice-president of hockey operations, Mike Murphy, said in a release Thursday.

The incident happened during a scrum Wednesday at the end of the first period of Vancouver's 1-0 win. The scrappy Burrows was involved in a shoving match with Bergeron behind the Boston net.

Television replays appear to show Burrows biting on Bergeron's finger as the Boston centre reaches over a linesman to rub his glove in the Canuck player's face.

Bergeron shrugged off the league's decision.

"I'm over it," he said. "I'm looking forward to the next game.

"It's the league's decision. I have nothing else to say about it. He did it, but I'm over it."

THIS DATE IN BASEBALL

1918 — Dutch Leonard of the Boston Red Sox pitched his second no-hitter, blanking the Detroit Tigers 5-0.
1932 — Lou Gehrig became the first American League player to hit four home runs in a game, helping the New York Yankees beat the Philadelphia A's 20-13. The event was overshadowed by the resignation of John McGraw as manager of the New York Giants.
1954 — Henry Thompson of the New York Giants hit three home runs and drove in eight runs in a 13-8 win against the St. Louis Cardinals. Willie Mays drove in the other five runs with two homers.
1971 — Ken Holtzman of the Chicago Cubs pitched his second no-hitter, beating the Cincinnati Reds 1-0.
1978 — Dave Johnson became the first major leaguer to hit two pinch-hit grand slams in a season. His grand slam in the ninth inning gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.
1989 — Los Angeles and Houston played 22 innings at the Astrodome in the longest night game in National League history — 7 hours, 14 minutes. The Astros won the game on Rafael Ramirez's RBI single off Jeff Hamilton, normally the Dodgers' third baseman. When the game ended, Fernando Valenzuela was playing first and Eddie Murray was at third.

Have you seen ads like this? "MONEY PROBLEMS?" "CREDIT PROBLEMS? Pay NO interest" "Reduce your debt by up to 80%"
Do they sound too good to be true? That's because they are only telling you HALF OF THE STORY! The procedure you are being sold is called a consumer proposal and may ONLY be administered by a licenced trustee in bankruptcy. After you pay these "consultants" a fee – hundreds, sometimes thousands of dollars – they refer you to a trustee to actually do the work (their ads don't tell you that).
There's no mystery, there's no clever deals or negotiation going on. These guys never actually speak to your creditors. So why are you paying them a fee?
Still not convinced? Their first meeting is free – before you go back a second time and start paying their fees give us a call. We'll walk you through all of your options and then you can decide what's best for you and your family.
One more thing – there are NO upfront fees to file a consumer proposal – if someone wants you to pay a fee BEFORE they file your paperwork then you aren't dealing with the right people!

Mavs stun Heat with late rally

NBA final tied 1-1 as series heads to Texas for three games

Dirk Nowitzki and the Dallas Mavericks put a stunning end to their misery in Miami.

Now they can win their first NBA title without coming back to South Florida.

Nowitzki made the tie-breaking layup with 3.6 seconds left, and the Mavericks roared back from 15 points down in the fourth quarter to beat the Heat 95-93 on Thursday night and tie the NBA final at one game apiece.

Capping a furious rally by scoring Dallas's final nine points, Nowitzki's final two baskets were left-handed — despite a torn tendon on that non-shooting hand. He finished with 24 points.

Dwyane Wade had 36 points for Miami, but his desperation three-pointer was off at the buzzer.

| MAVERICKS | HEAT |
|---|---|
| 95 | 93 |

Game 3 is Sunday in Dallas.

Seemingly out of the game when the Heat led 88-73 with 7:15 remaining, Dallas held the Heat to just one field goal from there. A three-pointer by Mario Chalmers with 24.5 seconds tied it just two seconds after Nowitzki's three had made it 93-90. Jason Kidd ran the clock down before getting the ball to Nowitzki who made a layup for the win.

Crosby cleared for off-ice workouts

Pittsburgh Penguins superstar Sidney Crosby has been cleared to resume off-ice workouts in a few weeks.

Crosby met with concussion expert Dr. Michael Collins Tuesday and will begin his summer program back home in Cole Harbour, N.S., within three weeks, the team said in a statement Thursday.

"I met with Sid (on) Wednesday before he left for home and talked to Dr. Collins," Penguins general manager Ray Shero said. "(Crosby) will resume his workouts and get back into his program in Cole Harbour."

Crosby, who was sidelined in early January after sustaining two hard hits in as many games, was enjoying his best season with 66 points in 41 games before he was hurt.

"Everything will be closely managed by Dr. Collins," Shero said, "in terms of his progression leading up to him getting on the ice later in the summer per his usual routine."
